THE CAVENDISH HOTEL WINS
OUTSTANDING ENVIRONMENTAL AWARD

The Cavendish Hotel on Jermyn Street has been awarded a Gold Accreditation by Green Tourism for London. The hotel is the first in London to be awarded the Gold Award for its environmental policies, and the second organisation in the Capital to be given the prestigious Gold Award.

The Green Tourism for London scheme was launched in 2007 by the London Development Agency. The scheme aims to improve the environmental performance and green credentials of hotels, guesthouses, venues and attractions across London.

The awards, which are only given after an assessment by an independent assessor, allow visitors to judge the true green potentials of businesses. The review of the business takes into account a wide array of factors including, traditional energy and resource management, as well as efforts to actively promote public transport, local cultural activities and London's open spaces.

The Cavendish Hotel has introduced a variety of energy saving actions including: energy efficient lighting; lighting controls; condensing boilers; and aerated shower heads. A PURE in-house water bottling system has been implemented, helping to reduce recycling waste from packaging and deliveries of bottled water which contributes to the reduction of emissions from road haulage.

Fairtrade products are used throughout the hotel, while the restaurant's menu features sustainable fish sources and local produce, where possible. The hotel offers green meeting packages which also include a complimentary carbon offset to balance out the carbon footprint of the delegates. Environmentally friendly cars receive a 50% discount when parking in the hotel's underground car park.

Ciaran Fahy, General Manager at The Cavendish Hotel, stated: "We are delighted to have been awarded the Gold Accreditation as recognition for the time and effort we have put into our environmental policies. The Cavendish is committed to reducing its impact on the environment. Our Green Team operates throughout the hotel to ensure that every team member is working towards building a sustainable future."
